

The Allan “Bud” Selig Sports Law and Business Program Presents

THE 2024 NBA TRADE DEADLINE COMPETITION

02

EVENT OVERVIEW

ABOUT NTDC

NTDC is designed to help students pursue careers in the sports industry. The Trade Deadline Competition is a fully immersive experience that brings together collegiate students from a variety of programs nationwide. Admitted students have the opportunity to operate an NBA team during a simulated trade deadline environment. Following the simulated deadline, each team presents the moves it made at the deadline to a panel of judges comprised of real NBA professionals who then score each team based on knowledge of the CBA, knowledge of analytics and scouting, evaluation of the assigned team, decisions it made during the deadline, and more.

PURPOSE:

To provide students a platform to (1) learn the integral parts of the NBA, (2) connect with industry executives, and (3) improve on translatable skills essential to providing value to an organization.

DATE: NOVEMBER 8-9, 2024

LOCATION: 111 E TAYLOR ST, PHOENIX, AZ 85004

@asutradedeadline

EVENT OVERVIEW

EXECUTIVE COURT COCKTAIL RECEPTION

The Executive Court Cocktail Reception is a networking event designed to thank the NBA executives that took the time to judge the competition and to bring together the influential minds of the sports, business, and legal sectors. This cocktail reception will feature esteemed law firms, sports agencies, team executives, and ambitious law students. Information on the attending executives, firms, and business entities will be posted on the NTDC website on a rolling basis. The event will be a terrific platform for sponsors to engage with top-tier lawyers, front office sports luminaries, agents, and other business leaders.

TBD

November 8, 2024

8:00 PM MST

NTDC TROPHY CEREMONY

The NTDC Trophy Ceremony is the highlight of a fully immersive experience where students have showcased their acumen in operating an NBA team during a simulated trade deadline. This celebratory event is both an award presentation and a gateway to the sports industry for more than 100 students at a variety of programs across the nation. The event is catered, providing an elegant backdrop as we honor the hard work of all participants and announce the winners who have excelled in showcasing their knowledge of the NBA, player analytics, scouting, strategic decision-making, the Collective Bargaining Agreement, and negotiations.

The Beus Center for
Law and Society

November 9, 2024

7:00 PM MST

EVENT OVERVIEW

EVENT SUMMARY:

Participants

Students currently enrolled at any collegiate level can compete.

Teams

Students applying to compete must form a team of between 3 to 6 students before applying.

Preparation

NBA Teams are assigned to admitted groups in late October.

Negotiations

Preliminary negotiations between teams may begin one week before the event.

Trade Deadline Period

Official trades are conducted in person on November 8, within a dedicated 5-hour window. All trades are thoroughly checked for CBA legality.

Presentations

On November 9, teams present their trades, strategies, and justifications to our judges comprised of real NBA professionals.

Scoring

Each team is evaluated on its approach and execution to the trade deadline.

2023 BY THE NUMBERS

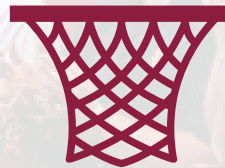

35

Collegiate Programs

126

Participating
Students

16

NBA
Executives

29

Registered
Teams

TESTIMONIALS

In its first year, the competition offered students a unique opportunity to immerse themselves in the operations of an NBA front office during a trade deadline, where they made key roster decisions and gained practical experience.

As a judge, it was exciting to watch these talented young people grapple with all of the complexities of the CBA and the Salary Cap in an effort to improve their teams roster. Hopefully, this event will continue to be an avenue for students to showcase their skills for many years to come.

David Morway

Former General Manager | Indiana Pacers

There are very few opportunities in sports that allow undergrads and grad students the ability to display their basketball analysis and knowledge in front of some of the best basketball minds. I wish they would have had this when I was a student in the MSLB program.”

Ryan Milne

Manager, Basketball Analyst & Insights Lead - League Operations
NBA League Office

As a judge for the ASU NBA mock trade deadline competition, I was thoroughly impressed by the participants’ strategic depth and understanding of basketball operations, showcasing the potential future leaders of sports management and analytics.

Sean Kiely

Basketball Strategy Analyst
Portland Trail Blazers

TESTIMONIALS

The Trade Deadline Competition at ASU provides an excellent opportunity for aspiring basketball professionals to be immersed in a simulation of what it's like to be in an NBA front office as the trade deadline approaches - analyzing rosters, negotiating trades, managing future payrolls, and so much more. I wish I had the opportunity to participate in something like this when I was in school!

Buddy Scott

Manager, Salary Cap & Basketball Strategy
Boston Celtics

The Trade Deadline Competition at ASU was professionally run and packed with action. The students got to experience what it's like to be an NBA front office at a peak time of year, including the pressure of a deadline. Beyond that experience, the ability to network with NBA executives is a priceless experience budding front office hopefuls can't really get anywhere else.

Keith Smith

Salary Cap Analyst
Spotrac

SEE WEBSITE FOR 2023 JUDGE LIST

WEBSITE, SOCIAL, & CONTACT INFO BELOW

07

PHOTOS FROM 2023

