

Clare Shelley-Egan is a postdoctoral researcher in the Law & Regulation group at the Department of Public Administration, Universiteit Twente. Her research is part of the Risk Analysis and Technology Assessment programme of the Dutch nanotechnology consortium NanoNextNL. She is working on a project, which explores the governance of responsible nanotechnological development, with a particular focus on the distribution of regulatory responsibilities.