

Professor Richard Owen holds the Chair in Responsible Innovation at the University of Exeter Business School. His research involves understanding the responsible development and emergence of innovation in society. He works closely with the UK Research Councils in this regard. He teaches Strategic Innovation Management on the Exeter One Planet MBA and is a strategic advisor to the Engineering and Physical Sciences Research Council.